CHARLES HART WAS NOT MOLESTED

PROWLER

CAUGHT BY THOMAS HOUSMAN FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Prisoner Unable to Give Good Account of Himself, but is Warned Away.

Thomas Housman, of 1141 Twelfth street, caught him a negro prowler yesterday and after warning the negro, released him, as he had not sufficient evidence to hold him for any charge. The negro was badly frightened and when released beat a hasty retreat and was seen no more in that neighborhood.

"When I went home last evening," Mr. Housman stated, "my wife told me she had noticed a negro prowling about the house. He appeared first about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and peered into the yard and made a minute inspection of other houses in the vicinity. I have but few chickens but my neighbors have many and I believed him to be spotting hen houses."

"At 7 o'clock he appeared again and stood near my house. I opened my knife and started after him. He did not suspect my design until I reached him. Grasping his wrist I exhibited my knife. I told the negro that if he did not behave himself I would disembowel him. He seemed badly frightened and could hardly talk. The prowler was a negro of low build, weighing about 175 pounds and was smoothly shaven and densely black. He told me his name several times before he got through, and claimed to be employed by the Paducah Transfer company. When asked what he meant by hanging about the house he replied first that he was 'looking for a man' but later said he had come out to hear singing. There is a small tent meeting being conducted near my house, but the negro failed to explain why he had remained from 3 in the afternoon until dark to hear the music."

"When I gave him final warning, and released him, the negro struck out at a rapid rate and I saw him no more. My son, Charles Housman, followed me out bearing a shotgun, which added to the negro's fright. I believe the negro was bent on robbery of some kind."

FIGHT AT SHARPE

MAY RESULT IN DEATH OF AN AGED PARTICIPANT.

Charles Powers, Seventy Years Old, Lies at Point of Death From Blow.

As the result of a fight Thursday afternoon with William Crenshaw near Sharpe, Marshall county Charles Powers, 70 years old a prominent farmer, is lying at the point of death, suffering from a blow on the head with a pitchfork. Crenshaw has not been arrested, although it is charged he struck the blow.

Crenshaw is 45 years of age and both men are prominent in the community. They are both married. It is not known what they quarreled about, but it is believed it was over a trivial matter. Witnesses stated that Powers struck Crenshaw with a cane, when the latter picked up a pitchfork and struck Powers across the forehead with the handle, knocking the old man down and rendering him unconscious. Dr. Eddie-man, of Sharpe, attended the wounded man.

BLAMES HIS RIVAL

For the Death of Sweetheart Which Resulted From Assault.

Kansas City, Mo., July 28.—Frank Kern, who with Bertha Bowlin, was brutally assaulted late at night a week ago on the Kersey-Coates Terrace fully regained consciousness to-night and made a statement in which he said that Albert M. Crone, the girl's former lover, committed the assault. Crone is now in jail charged with murder in the first degree, awaiting his preliminary hearing. Miss Bowlin died two days after the assault, while Kern did not fully regain consciousness until today.

DIPPLE RESIGNS SEAT IN COUNCIL

Much Interest Taken in Selection of Successor.

"Old Guard" Democrats Expect to Elect Six of Councilmen This Fall.

MAYOR WILL APPOINT SOON.

Race Dipple, Republican councilman from the Fourth ward, has tendered his resignation to Mayor Yeiser, and thereby hangs a political tale of some possible future significance.

The people of the Fourth ward elected a Republican, and, of course, strict recognition of their right of representation would prompt the executive in filling out the unexpired term to name a man of the same political views as the incumbent. However, Democratic politicians look on the resignation of Councilman Dipple as a rare piece of luck to be taken advantage of, in case of a "dog-fall" resulting from the election this fall, when half the Republican councilmen's terms expire.

It is the scheme of "old guard" who have manipulated things for the Democrats at the city hall in years past to win these five seats this fall, thus making the hard a tie, and then secure a majority by any means possible. A Democratic successor to Councilman Dipple, who would have been a holdover, would give a party majority of one in the lower board, should the crowd succeed in electing all six of its men.

However, Mayor Yeiser has the reputation of being independent in his actions, and the recent appointment of Police Judge Puryear in the face of the denunciation of the "old guard" may have alienated their affections to such an extent that they will not counsel with the mayor about the appointment.

Mayor Yeiser refused to say anything about his probable action in the matter, but he will name Dipple's successor without delay. He went into executive session about noon, with a city directory, a copy of the revised ordinance and charter of second class cities, D. A. Yeiser, who is the mayor's closest advisors in matters pertaining to the execution of his office.

He was inaccessible after that, and the red-hot instructions to the railroads and police that flew out of his office during the morning, warned aspirants from the Fourth ward that this office is seeking the man.

Is Too Busy.

Councilman Dipple's resignation, while not expected at this time, is not surprising. He is a traveling salesman and is away much of the time. He has been unable to attend many meetings, and repeatedly has said he would resign. It was all his friends could do to keep him on the ticket after he was nominated.

FIGHT POSSE

ONE OF HALLS IS WOUNDED BUT WILL NOT SURRENDER.

Sheriff So Far Has Been Baffled in Attempt to Arrest Feudists in Mountains.

Hindman, Ky., July 28.—The Hall-Martin feudists have successfully baffled all attempts of Sheriff Haas and his posse to arrest them. The posse and the Martin boys engaged in a hot battle on Beaver creek yesterday, in which Major Martin was wounded but the brothers got him under cover and refused to surrender.

BECAME MAD

When She Ran a Needle Into Her Hand and Was Operated On.

Delaware O., July 28.—While doing the house laundering today Mrs. Michael Brahm ran a needle into her hand and was instantly overtaken with madness. She was overpowered and taken to the hospital. With great force she was placed on the operating table and the needle extracted. She feared death and lost consciousness. Her screams were heard blocks away.

LOVERS, FOILED, DIE IN RIVER.

Young Couple, Forbidden to Marry, Commit Suicide Together.

Philadelphia, July 28.—Disappointed because their parents would not permit them to marry, Gustave Kathke, aged 19, and Ella Miller, aged 18, committed suicide together some time Tuesday night by jumping into the Delaware river. The bodies of the young couple clasped in each other's arms, came to the surface last night near Chestnut street wharf.

AGRARIAN

DISORDERS HAVE BROKEN OUT IN EARNST IN RUSSIA.

Telephone Connections Cut Off by An "Accident" at St. Petersburg Exchange.

St. Petersburg, July 28.—The indications today are that peasant disorders which, it was expected, would follow the circulation of the manifesto that dissolved the duma, have begun in earnest. The latest advices show agrarian disturbances are breaking out in many districts.

Rioting has occurred at Ismail, Bessarabia. Revolutionists marched through the streets, carrying red banners and shouting "Down with the czar." All shops are closed owing to the disorder. A company of Cossacks were sent to restore order. While the agrarian disturbances have increased the government has met with obstacles in the formation of a cabinet, which has greatly handicapped the efforts to establish itself firmly.

St. Petersburg July 28.—Premier Stolypin has issued special instructions to the police not to expel from the city Jewish members of the former duma who remained here since the dissolution of parliament. The police had determined to order all former deputies to leave the city, as it is illegal for Jews to reside in the capital.

Accident to Wires.

St. Petersburg July 28.—An accident to the switchboard at the Central station destroyed all communication with the provinces except over the railroad wires, which the government controls. Grave suspicion in the "accident" was arranged by revolutionists are entertained. Communication with the interior will be cut off for some time.

Sailors Mutiny.

Odessa, July 28.—Sailors of the Black sea fleet on two warships mutinied, but the revolt was suppressed. The warships however were declared out of commission and the crews scattered about at various posts.

ON AUGUST 6.

Much Touted Investigation of Standard Begins in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., July 28.—Standard Oil company methods of transporting its products are to be investigated August 6, when a federal court grand jury will convene in Chicago to take testimony on that subject. The decision to draw a special grand jury was reached late this afternoon, after an all day's conference between the government lawyers in the case, and Judge Landis in the United States district court, issued the order for the jury.

RAWN TO REMAIN.

Report That He Would Leave Illinois Central Incorrect.

Chicago, July 28.—The report extensively circulated the last few days to the effect that I. G. Rawn, general manager of the Illinois Central railroad, will resign to accept a position of vice-president and general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad is not correct. This information is given today from the headquarters of the Illinois Central here.

Minnows Like Mosquitoes.

New Orleans, July 28.—A proposition to use top minnows in stagnant pools in place of oil to destroy yellow fever mosquitoes and to prevent their breeding was advocated today by Dr. Quintan Kohnke, city health officer of New Orleans, in an interview. He said he had contemplated asking the United States government to establish at New Orleans a breeding pond for top minnows, to be used for stocking the stagnant water about the city.

FOR FIFTY THOUSAND PEOPLE IN PADUCAH

Club Organized to Boost City and Raise Funds With Which to Advertise Its Resources.

PRIZES IN MEMBERSHIP CONTESTS

JOIN 50,000 CLUB
AND HELP TO MAKE PADUCAH BIG CITY.

The Commercial club is desirous of creating a fund to advertise our natural resources. It has adopted a plan of selling 20,000 buttons ("Paducah 50,000"), and it is hoped every man, woman and child in Paducah will wear one of the buttons. Cities profit by advertising just as much as do business houses. The best advertising a city can have is a loyal, public spirited, earnest, enthusiastic population, each individual adding his part towards his home town's best interests.

The plan adopted for securing members for the "50,000 Club" is to sell a button at 50c, the money to create a fund to advertise the city's interests.

A plan may develop into a movement that will enlist every citizen of Paducah in the work of "boosting" the city was inaugurated today by the Commercial club. It is the "50,000 Club," the ultimate and only object of which is to secure a population of 50,000 for Paducah.

Other cities are trying the plan with great success. One of its principal advantages is its extreme simplicity. The only requirements are that the member purchase a button, "Paducah 50,000" for fifty cents and agree to boost the town and discourage knockers.

Paducah, it is believed, should have a club of at least 20,000. To stimulate the work of securing members at the start prizes have been offered for the most successful membership solicitors.

All the money taken in by the sale of buttons will be used in advertising the city and securing new enterprises. In this way a large fund can be raised and the burden will not be felt by any of the contributors. At the same time, it is felt that wearing the button will be a constant reminder to its wearer and in a short time every wide awake citizen will be enlisted in the work of boosting.

The Prizes.

As an extra inducement for the securing of membership to the 50,000, a list of magnificent prizes has been presented by the following progressive and up-to-date business men:

Friedman, Keller & company, a handsome diamond ring, valued at $75.

Rhodes-Burford company, an elegant turkish leather rocker, valued at $40.

Nagel & Meyer, a handsome gold watch for lady or gentleman, valued at $35.

Rudy-Phillips & company, handsome Wilton rug, valued $25.

Wallerstein Bros., an elegant attorney dress suit or overcoat, valued at $22.50.

B. Weille & Son, an elegant fall overcoat or lady's cravenette, valued at $20.

M. Michael & Bro., beautiful saddle and bridle, for either lady or gentleman, valued at $20.

J. L. Wolff, a beautiful cut-glass water set valued at $15.

J. L. Wanner, an elaborately ornamented 8-day clock, valued at $15.

L. W. Henneberger & company, a beautiful chafing dish, carving set, or rifle, valued at $10 each.

The total actual value of these prizes is $277.50, in fact, they would sell for much more than this amount, so that anyone securing one of these handsome prizes will be amply repaid for the effort put forth in selling buttons and getting members to the 50,000 club, not to say anything of the pride that should be taken in the effort to boost the city.

The Rev. T. E. Beard, of Dyer, Tenn., arrived today to conduct services at the Cumberland Presbyterian church Sunday.

COUNTERFEIT

DOLLARS ARE BEING CIRCULATED IN PADUCAH.

Wade Brown, the Deputy United States Marshal, Has One of Good Workmanship.

It will be well for everybody fortunate enough to possess a silver dollar to look closely at the date, and if it is dated 1900 to bite it or resort to any test to prove its genuineness.

There are counterfeit silver dollars in circulation in Paducah and they are so near perfect that it is hard to detect them except by the closest scrutiny.

Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, has one which was passed several days ago on Miss Ella Householder, of West Trimble street. (An expressman gave her the coin in change after he had done some hauling.)

The dollar is nearly perfect. It has a good ring. There is a dullness detected when it is dropped after a genuine dollar is sounded. The M under the eagle is visible and perfect and the O under the eagle equally as well formed. The dollar is so close to being perfect that the small M in the wreath, which few people know exists, is visible under the magnifying glass. "There are a lot of nickels of a date I do not know, which are being passed as good coin," Marshal Brown stated, "and the people will do well to see that they take none of them. The nickels are not wood counterfeits. The matter is being investigated and we hope to be able to place the guilt where it belongs."

Marshal Brown does not venture an opinion as to whether the coins are being made here or some where else.

CHILD BORN IN STATE PRISON.

Woman Who Recently Began Life Sentence for Murder a Mother.

St. Paul, July 28.—A child was born in the state prison at Stillwater today to Mrs. Stella Brennan, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of her step-children in Minneapolis Nov. 4 last. Governor Johnson spoke strongly when he learned of the birth within the prison walls and intimated that Mrs. Brennan's case might come before the pardon board. Her husband, James Brennan, although much grieved over her act, stood by his wife during her trial. The fact that Mrs. Brennan expected to become a mother. It is said, influenced the jury to bring in a verdict of murder in the second degree, that she might thus avoid being hung for her crime. The daughter just born to her will be sent to Mrs. Brennan's mother, who lives in Michigan.

WELTS ON BACKS

Of Men Who Escaped From the Blood Hounds of Lumber Camp.

Pensacola, Fla., July 28.—With big welts and bruises all over their arms and bodies, some of them as large as a finger, and with clothing torn by the fierce attacks of bloodhounds which had trailed and caught them, three more men arrived here today from the camps of the Jackson Lumber company at Lockport, Ala., and asked for protection. The men are John Cook and Harry Lyman, Americans, and Vandal Kelyershuitt, a German.

Occasional local thunder showers tonight and probably Sunday. Cooler by Sunday night. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 92 and the lowest today was 70.

Today's Schedule.

Danville at Jacksonville.

Every game played in the Kitty league yesterday was close, and was won by only one score. Vincennes and Paducah battled for ten innings, the only extra inning game. Danville and Jacksonville had low scores and Mattoon and Cairo also played a close game, but the scores were comparatively large in the latter game. The winning teams made a total of 11 and the losers 8 scores.

Indians Go Ten Innings.
Vincennes, Ind., July 28.—The Indians and Hoosiers went ten innings today, the Hoosiers winning by a score of 2 to 1. Bill Chenault pitched for the Hoosiers and one hit yielded to the Indians. The Hoosiers made 11 hits off Wright but they were scattered. The score stood one to naught in the seventh inning, but the Hoosiers batted out a tie. Barbour hit for three sacks and was followed by Mattison with a double. In the tenth inning Big Bill Chenault hit a two bagger and scored on two successive singles.

Cairo 5 7 6

The Cairo Bulletin speaks plainly in regard to Empire Wilkinson's work. It says:
"Wilkinson is making good the boast made at Mattoon some time ago that he would do all in his power to assist Vincennes to win the pennant. As Cairo is the only dangerous competitor at present that Vincennes has to fear, it must stand for his rotten work. Wilkinson was at Danville with Cairo, is now at Mattoon and is scheduled for the Vincennes-Cairo series. This arrangement certainly reflects great discredit upon President Gosnell and leaves him open to comment. Cairo has had several bitter doses of Wilkinson and President Gosnell promised when he was here in the presence of three gentlemen that he would arrange his umpire schedule so that Wilkinson would not officiate in any more Cairo games. Jacksonville, Mattoon and Cairo have protested against this umpire and with the charges of crookedness at Danville laid at his door is more than sufficient to cause his removal. Give us umpires that are not under the thumb of Manager Eddie Keib of Vincennes."

FINANCIAL STATE OF CZAR'S EMPIRE

Reason For Inspired Optimism of Reports.

Fatal Blunder Made in Not Arresting Members of Douma When Body Was Dissolved.

PLOT AGAINST GOVERNMENT.

St. Petersburg, July 28.—The government is using every means at its disposal to create the impression both at home and abroad that the crisis has been successfully passed and that the probability of a general upheaval has disappeared.

The government's sudden access of optimism, traceable to the consternation of the disastrous fall in Russian securities at home and abroad. The one thing which the government cannot do without is money, and whatever the response to the outlawed parliament's appeal to the people to refuse to any longer pay taxes, the whole future depends on the ability of the government to continue its foreign loan operations in the future.

For the last 48 hours the central committee of the Social Democrats, Social Revolutionists, Peasant League, Railroad Men's union and Telegraphers' union and the military committees have been conferring both separately and jointly with the parliamentary groups, not only on the question of calling a general strike but actually in the question of attempting a counter-coup d'etat by setting up a provisional government. No final decision has yet been taken, but practically all the proletarian organizations, including that of the railroad men, but excepting the telegraphers have already pronounced in favor of this step. The members of the group of toll and Social Democrats of the outlawed parliament believe that another course is open, and are irrevocably committed on the surface with the Constitutional Democrats to discountenancing any active revolutionary step, but secretly they have agreed to support or join in it if it can be successfully inaugurated.

Over a hundred of them met last night in Finland under the presidency of Prof. Milinoff. Conferences will be held by representatives of other groups this afternoon, and the possible extent of the support which a revolutionary movement will receive from the army is therefore vital. At Helsinki, Finland Tuesday night 1,500 soldiers and sailors of the garrison took an oath to fight on the side of the people.

Fatal Blunder.
It is quite apparent to disinterested observers of the situation that the government in entering on its present policy made a perhaps fatal blunder in lacking the hardihood to arrest the members of the outlawed parliament. In its desire to "save its face" it feared to go further than prohibiting the publication of the address of parliament to the country and preventing the members from giving public accounts of their stewardship to their constituents.

But this decision only left the members of parliament personally free to conduct a conspiracy against the life of the government when the plot is complete, and the signal has gone forth, arrests will be useless and the government will again find that it acted too late in closing the political clubs, which has been followed by the closing of all the workmen's unions and suspected tea houses.

Censorship Strict.
St. Petersburg, July 28.—Censorship on foreign news continues strict.

Unrest at Kronstadt.
St. Petersburg, July 28.—The minister of marine sent telegraphic orders to commanders of Russian warships in foreign ports, ordering them to return to Kronstadt on account of the serious unrest existing among the sailors.

Sunset.
The artist Day, at morn designed to trace
Upon the earth the heaven's varied hue,
And through clear hours she worked
In languid grace
With brush of light and shade,
And wash of dew.

But when across the sky had sped the sun,
And in its mocking haste plunged down to rest,
Impatient at her labors half undone,
She flung her tangled colors in the west.

The Beggar.

A little Love stole through the dusk,
Crept wraith-like through the gloom
Until he reached the empty hearth
Within my lonely room.

He was so cold—perforce I made
A fire to keep him warm,
So fearful—could I do aught else
Than shelter him from harm?

But when my gifts of warmth and cheer

Had cleared his wistful brow
He fled away with all I had—‘Tis I am a beggar now!

—Charlotte Becker, in Ainslee's.

Dinner for Mrs. Buckner.

The St. Joseph, Mo., News-Press gives an account of a dinner given for Mrs. J. M. Buckner in that city by Mrs. J. N. Burnes, at her home "Ayre Lawn." Mrs. Burnes is the daughter of Mrs. Buckner.

The table was spread under the trees on the lawn and a dinner typical of old days in Kentucky before the war, was served by attendants who wore red bandana handkerchiefs and other dress incidentals peculiar to that period. At each plate was an old-fashioned brass candlestick, about thirty being used to light the table. The place cards were decorated with scenes of Southern life. The menu consisted of fried chicken and vegetables served in the old way and the dessert was apple pie and watermelon and mint julep for the gentlemen. After dinner a musical program was given.

The character of Paducah women as manifested in their club life will be the subject of a short series of reviews in this paper. These estimates will appear only in the Saturday review of the week in society.

With the heart of the summer reached and the thoughts turned toward the approaching fall and winter, club life will be among the first reviving things in the social calendar; for clubs answer the primary social instinct of the race. Every club may not be mentioned, the idea being to delineate women's life in Paducah by reviewing their clubs, it seeming evident that with the variety of clubs here they would be the most complete single source of observation.

A Nation of Children.

In conversation with Secretary Taft, before my last visit to the Philippines, says Willard French in the August Lippincott's, he combined the people in the only quality where they stand on common ground when he said, "They are distinctly childish, whimsical, often unreasonably, childish, sometimes obstinately childish." It is the result of superficial Christianity and partial subjugation, through 300 years of Spanish dominion, upon a groundwork of Oriental barbarism. The native of the east especially under the influence of Latin races, becomes secretive, hiding his own opinions and apparently agreeing with any one whom he must consider a superior, a tendency which has caused many misconceptions in Anglo-Saxon minds. More began with our merchants and soldiers, in the early days when the little brown men were fighting for a cause which they only knew what a few interested leaders told them. They did it with a courage demanding admiration, but by methods of their own which seemed to us infringements upon the dogmas of The Hague. We began by considering every Filipino a treacherous enemy, and continue treating them so to this day. By instinct and interest a large class of Americans are opposed to every effort establishing and defending the rights of the natives, and are eager to create and endorse conceptions of their unworthiness; while the Filipino has also had opportunities, and may have profited by them, to form opinions of Americans from the drunken, truculent loafers who infest the coast-towns, living on the labor of native women; or they may have gauged our standards of honesty by the humiliating list of official and unofficial defaulters among Americans on the islands, and the times they have been cheated by our countrymen.

The testimony showed that Mix had yelled that he could "kill them all with his 38-caliber pistol." I have got when he left the Sue Eggleston resort, thus creating the impression that he had a gun.

The family of the dead man is taking no part in the prosecution, and no member appeared in the court room yesterday during the trial.

The defendants are represented by Attorneys Hendrick, Miller & Marhe and the prosecution by County Attorney Alben Barkley.

This morning the attorneys argued the case, consuming about two hours and at the conclusion Anderson was held over for murder without bond and McCord dismissed. Judge Puryear looked up the statutes and announced briefly that he saw no occasion to pass at length on his reasons for holding Anderson over. The case appears from the evidence to be unprovoked murder.

HELD FOR MURDER TO GRAND JURY

Cicero Anderson Must Stay in Jail Until His Trial.

Judge Puryear in the Police Court Refuses to Grant Prisoner Bail.

FARLEY McCORD IS RELEASED.

Cicero Anderson, charged with the murder of John Mix, was held to the grand jury without bail by Judge Puryear in police court this morning. Farley McCord was discharged. All the evidence in the case charging Cicero Anderson with the murder of John Mix was heard yesterday afternoon and Police Judge E. H. Puryear held the case up until today for argument. The trial was originally set for yesterday morning but by agreement was continued until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The testimony consumed four hours and each witness was examined and cross-examined minutely.

The testimony was the same as before the coroner's jury. Ed Scott testified as to the first fight which started from John Mix, the dead man, taking a bottle of liquor from Farley McCord's pocket in the Sue Eggleston resort. Pat Lydon bartender in the Blackhall saloon, testified as to McCord and Anderson coming into the saloon looking for Mix, and as to Mix complaining that he was being followed by the two.

Jim Doolin testified as to the fight in the rear of Charles Graham's saloon but did not see the pistol shot fired.

Anderson was introduced and pleaded self-defense saying that Mix was punishing McCord severely and that McCord was crying for help and pleading with Mix to cease. He testified that Mix arose from McCord and started towards him, at the same time placing his hand on his hip pocket as if to draw a gun. It was then that he shot, believing in good faith that Mix intended killing him.

Farley McCord testified as to the same facts, these being the first statements made by these two since the shooting.

The testimony showed that Mix had yelled that he could "kill them all with his 38-caliber pistol." I have got when he left the Sue Eggleston resort, thus creating the impression that he had a gun.

The family of the dead man is taking no part in the prosecution, and no member appeared in the court room yesterday during the trial.

CRUSHED TO PULP ARE TWO BODIES

Little Negro Boys Meet With Horrible Death.

Rotton Crane at Tobacco Warehouse at Mayfield Topples on Them While at Play.

HEAD OF ONE IS FLATTENED.

Adolphus and Cornelius Coates, colored, 10 and 12 years old respectively, brothers, were crushed to a pulp under a big tobacco crane in Mayfield this morning about 8 o'clock. Death was instantaneous, and the bodies were crushed from head to foot. The boys lived in West Mayfield and were playing about a big tobacco crane at Ligon & Allen's warehouse. The crane is heavy and had not been in use for some time. The iron sockets had rusted and when the boys began pulling the massive arm about it suddenly gave way and fell.

Both boys were crushed to death before they could run out of the way. The head of the younger was crushed flat and his legs broken. The elder brother was also horribly crushed. Residents prized the big crane arm up and pulled the bodies from under it. The corpses were warm when taken back to the mother.

The gauge registered a stage of 13.4 this morning a rise of 0.7 in the last 24 hours. Weather clear and business good at the wharf.

The City of Savannah arrived this morning at 8 o'clock, 24 hours late. The Savannah left St. Louis late and had to return after going a short distance, to repair the engines. There were 75 passengers making the round trip to the Tennessee river and the freight business was heavy.

The towboats Margaret and Jim Duffy were delayed getting away for the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers after ties, by a lack of the hands. The Margaret left this morning and the Duffy probably will leave today. The only explanation of the scarcity of tie hands is that many are on protracted sprees.

The Dick Fowler left this morning with a good trip to Cairo and the up trip last night also was good.

The John Hopkins was the Evansville packet today.

The Kentucky arrived from Joppy last night and will leave this evening for the Tennessee river at 6 o'clock.

The Dunbar will arrive Sunday night late or Monday morning from Nashville. The Buttrif will then resume its regular trade and leave Monday at noon for Clarksville. The Dunbar will be repaired on the dry docks.

Few boats have as graceful lines as the cotton steamer Natchez, now on the ways. To stand at the Broadway wharf and look toward this boat one cannot detect a single thing which breaks the graceful symmetry and proportions of the steamer. The hull is narrow and the deck wide, while the upper parts equally are in good taste. The Natchez is one of the largest boats on the Mississippi and can carry 4,000 bales of cotton. Practically a new hull has been built under the boat and it has been on the ways since May 19. The Natchez is expected to be finished by August 19th.

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio at Evansville will fall tonight and Saturday. At Mt. Vernon will continue rising during the next 12 hours, then commence falling. At Paducah and Cairo, will continue rising during the next two days.

The Tennessee from Florence to below Johnsonville will fall during the next 24 hours.

The Mississippi at Chester will fall tonight and Saturday. From below Chester to above Cairo will commence falling Saturday.

Parisian Sage Makes Hair Grow or Money Back

I was so bald and such a shining mark for my friends that I, as a last resort, tried your Parisian Sage (after trying several bottles of the highly advertised and high-priced so-called hair restorers) and I am glad to say I now have a heavy growth of new hair. I am now 45 years old and have a heavy growth of new hair after carrying my shining mark for over seven years. I gladly recommend Parisian Sage to all afflicted with baldness.

Daily Thought.
"Learn to love your work, and then it is half done."

"PADUCAH 50,000."
This may be a dream. It may be a prophecy. It depends on the people of Paducah.

There are 28,820 people living in Paducah. Probably a score years ago, if anybody had predicted a city of this size at the confluence of the Ohio and Tennessee rivers, he would have been classed as a dreamer.
There are a lot of dreams coming true these days. We don't mind dreamers, if they see visions of a great city on Paducah's site, and wear that dream on buttons fastened in their coat lapels.

It is true that the money from the sale of the ornamental buttons, which is the only revenue of the
"50,000 club," will be used in advertising Paducah; but this is not the end and ultimate object of either the club or the money. The ultimate object of the club and the money is to secure a population of 50,000 for Paducah. So, the member has not fulfilled his public duty by merely buying a button. He must wear the button. That button will proclaim to all who see him, that he is for a population of 50,000; that he is working for it; that he believes in it.

Then he can't knock.
There is the core of the whole matter. If you have a friend, who is a "knocker," buy a button and put it on his coat. If you have an enemy, who is belittling Paducah, and injuring the town and incidentally your trade, buy a button and fasten it on his coat.

No magic is claimed for the talisman: "Paducah 50,000." The days of the black art are numbered. Reason has explained the theory of every phenomenon. Psychology accounts for all the rest of it.

The little button is guaranteed,
however, to change the disposition of every "knocker" in three months, or money refunded. It's simple enough.
A man can't wear a button proclaiming him a 50,000 advocate and run down the town at the same time.
As soon as an acquaintance catches sight of the button he says: "I see you belong to the '50,000 club.'"

It distinguishes him from the "knockers." The little monitor "50-000" is with him always. If another decries Paducah in his presence, he is bound to defend the city, or throw away the button. If he throws away the button, somebody will ask him why he remains in Paducah. That button will make him defend the town in a week; seek argument to sustain his faith in a population of 50,000 in a month; and get him into the Commercial club in three months.

When he begins to look for arguments in favor of Paducah's growth
he is an "ex-knocker." The arguments are all around him, in the elements. If he looks into the sky, earth or water, the signs reassure him. If he looks up and down the street, he will see nothing but buttons bearing the inscription, "Paducah 50,000."

Join the club and wear the button. But above all, get the button on your friend, "The Knocker." He is the fellow we are after. There is more joy in the fold over one "Knocker" converted, than in all the faithful, who have been contributing to the Commercial club fund until the rest of us have come to look on it as their duty.

OFFICERS WERE CONSIDERATE.

It seems that our Mayfield friends, appreciating only the sincerity of the motives which prompted the mob to move on the McCracken county jail, and not realizing the disgrace they were threatening to heap on the fair name of Paducah, go to excess in expressing disapproval of the treatment of the Graves county boys
by the Paducah police, and especially Police Judge Puryear.

A careful perusal of the exclusive account in yesterday's Sun of the attempt to take the prisoner from the guards by force, and the drawing of pistols in an encounter, will convince the most radical that the Paducah police were lenient.

Everybody knows it is against the law to carry revolvers, and everybody, who read The Sun, knows that a show of these guns was made. The Graves county men were attempting to incite a riot. They could have been severely dealt with and imprisoned; but Judge Puryear, realizing that the men were carried away by a feeling of chivalry, took the more considerate course and merely told the members of the mob that they must go home.

The majority of them threw away
their pistols, but a policeman caught two with them on. The two exposed their pistols to public view. That is how the policeman came to see them. He had but one duty to perform, and that was to arrest the boys.
Fortunately, there was no bloodshed Thursday night; but that was not to the credit of the Graves county mob.
It was due to the efficiency of the Paducah and McCracken county officers. Paducahans sympathize with the Mayfield people in the honest sentiment that prompted them to attempt such an act, even if it was unlawful. But the people of Paducah are proud of the success of their efficient officers in preventing the accomplishment of the mob's purpose
in this city.

Surely, the members of that Mayfield mob cannot entertain any ill feeling against the Paducah police, the sheriff's officers and Police Judge Puryear. The latter got out of bed at 2 o'clock in the morning and went down to the city hall so that the prisoners might give bond. Not every judicial would be so considerate especially toward citizens of another county, whose votes can not help to elect him. The same may be said of the officers, who allowed the prisoners to stay in the city hall, instead of behind the bars, while they went to the trouble of arousing the judge. It is the extreme test of the endurance of human patience to call a man out of a sound sleep directly after midnight.
Judge Puryear not only retained his sweetness of temper, but his faculties to such a degree that he dismissed all that thoughtless mob with a warning to go home and behave. Now, our Mayfield traducers, what do you think of that? Will you do as much for us, if we send a mob down there to sully your good name, after you have been generous enough to house our prisoner? The McCracken county officers were engaged in upholding the reputation and law for Graves county against a Graves county mob. They could have refused to accept the prisoner.

Mayfield citizens may well resent
the statement in a local publication with reference to the mob Thursday night, that "Nearly every man had been drinking and all were noisy and boisterous." It was one of the fortunate circumstances of that occasion that the men were not drunk. Had that crowd of men armed as they were, been drunk, there would have been bloodshed. Whatever else we may say against them, we must give them credit for going about their business sober.

In deposing Dowle as the spiritual and commercial head of Zion City, and ordering a popular election of an overseer to succeed, the Chicago court suspended publication of the "Leaves of Healing." The court must have considered it a
"heeler" for Dowle.

ON HER HEAD

SHE ALIGHTED, BUT SPRAINED
HER ANKLE.

Strange Experience of Freddie Simpson,
Who Dived Off Street Car.

Freddie Simpson, colored, 30 years old, jumped from a Trimble street car this morning at 9:30 o'clock.
She became frightened at a noise
made by the breaking of a trolley wire and left the car while it was in motion.

The street car was, No. 33, in charge of Motorman Emmett Johnson and Conductor L. H. Riley. It was going west. The wire parted and the ends began to beat on the top of the car. This noise and the flashes of fire frightened the woman to such an extent that she rushed out and sprang into the air.

She alighted on her head and after spinning about for several seconds fell limp and lifeless. She was stunned by the fall and the patrol wagon took her to Riverside hospital, where Drs. Frank Boyd and Horace T. Rivers were summoned. An examination developed a sprained ankle and bruised head but no broken bones. The woman's escape from a broken neck is considered miraculous.

She lives at 1224 Harrison street and will be taken home as soon as she is able to leave the hospital.

KIPLING SEES BOER RULE AGAIN

Poem on South Africa a Satire on the British Government.

London, July 28.—The Standard
this morning publishes a stirring poem
by Rudyard Kipling, entitled "South Africa," which the Standard calls an "eloquent yet condensed statement of the British case" in that country. It is a satire on the government's alleged haste to frame new constitutions for the South African colonies, under which some persons fear that Boer ascendancy will be again established in the Transvaal. Mr. Kipling reminds Englishmen of the price paid to lose
"the yoke neath which our brethren lay" and condemns the alleged treach-ery by which the colonists will be again betrayed into the hands of the Boers, saying:

Our rulers juggling device
To sell them back again,
In this connection it is said the government's plan contemplates securing a majority of British representatives in the proposed Transvaal legislative assembly. Nevertheless the opposition in the house of commons will vigorously fight the proposed constitution.

BOAT BLOWN ASHORE.

Driven Helpless Before Storm on the Mississippi River.

St. Louis, July 28.—The excursion steamer Liberty, filled with pleasure seekers, caught in a storm near Alton, Ill., was driven across the Mississippi river at uncontrollable speed and dashed into a dike on the Missouri side. With the terrified passengers huddled in the cabin, the grow of the boat was forced upon the dike, while the wind swept chairs into the river from the deck and shattered the cabin windows. The boat held firmly on the dike, however, and when the storm had abated sufficiently the government boat Lucia transhipped the passengers and landed them in Alton.

ued at $25,000, was badly damaged and the storehouse, Masonic hall and the Elm City clubrooms overhead

FALLS FROM ROOF
AND MEETS DEATH

Workman Killed in Peculiar Manner at I. C. Shops.

Touches Live Wire and the Resulting Fall Produces Internal Injuries.

VERDICT OF ELECTROCUTION.

William Poindexter, colored, 45 years old of Louisville, Ky., died in the patrol wagon at Ninth and Monroe streets, yesterday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock, while being taken to Riverside hospital. He had accidentally touched a live electric wire on the roof of the Illinois Central round house, and was rendered limp by the shock. He broke loose from the wire and rolled off the roof to the ground, 30 feet below, and died from injuries sustained in the fall. It is believed.

Poindexter is an expert pitch roof worker, and is employed by the Dick Davis Sheet Iron and Metal works. This firm has a contract for putting a tar paper roof on the round house and Poindexter was brought here from Louisville Sunday to help with the work. He went to go under the wire and grabbed it with his hand, not noticing that the insulation had worn off. His companions heard a groan and looked around to see Poindexter convulsed by the electricity.

They tried to pull him loose but were themselves shocked and forced to abandon their companion. Poindexter finally fell limp to the roof,
rolled off and struck the ground.
When picked up he was found to be internally injured, his stomach being affected. The patrol wagon was secured and the injured man started for the hospital. He died en route and the body was taken to the Ma-till-Effinger undertaking shop where Coroner Frank Eaker took charge.

Coroner Frank Eaker this morning held an inquest and the following verdict was returned:

"We, the jury, after being duly sworn to ascertain the cause and manner of the death of William Poindexter, colored, find that he came to his death July 27, 1906, by being electrocuted by coming in contact with a live wire while working on the roof of the round house of the I. C. railroad at Paducah, Ky.

"Signed: F. S. Digel, Ab Coleman,
Albert Woodward, W. A. Bethel,
Henry Gockel, Bob Ballouwe."

Dr. Johnston Bass, city physician, testified that it was his opinion that the shock caused the fall. Electrocution means death directly from the shock.

The body was taken to Louisville
today at noon for burial.

DEATHS OF A DAY

Allen Mathis, the 16-year-old negro who confessed to having assaulted and robbed Miss Ethel McClain in Mayfield, and who is in the county jail here for safekeeping, passed a quiet night in the jail last night. No attempt was made to secure him by a mob and nothing was done to interfere with his safekeeping. Rumors of the formation of mobs both here and at Mayfield reached the police, but an investigation showed these to be groundless. County Jailor James Eaker had prepared for any emergency last night, and Mathis would have been well protected from mob violence.

Comb Out?

When the hair combs out badly I think is the time you want to know exactly what to do. Here is advice founded on an experience of half a century—Use Ayer's Hair Vigor! It feeds the hair-bulbs, gives life and strength to the hair. The hair stays in, grows rapidly, keeps soft and glossy. There is hand-

The Cure of Headaches.

By Osteopathy.

"What bone would you pull to treat a headache?" asked a layman.
Any bone that may be out of its correct position in the neck or back, exposed to bring its pressure upon the nerves which express the pain sense
—that is, if the headache happens to be due to a bony slip; but of course it may not be at all. That is one frequent cause, but there are many others which are apt to be operative.
A muscular contraction in the back,
in the neck, or over the head, may likewise cause headache. Indigestion, eye-strain, mental fatigue, a sluggish liver, constipation, kidney disease, and many other things are frequent causes of headache. Hence the cure of headache osteopathically is the cure of its cause or causes.
To find the remedy these causes, having as they usually do an anatomical basis, requires special and thorough training, and that is why osteopathy exists as an independent school of medicine. Its practitioners are specialists. They cure headaches, as they do other diseases not by "pulling" a bone, unless a bone needs "pulling,"
but by finding the cause of each special headache and giving that cause whatever treatment is needed to cure it. So in a dozen different headaches none might be treated alike osteopathically, and yet ten or even of the dozen would likely be cured.

Osteopathy is probably doing more for suffering humanity than any recent discovery, and I should like for you to investigate its merits. I should be pleased to see all who may be interested in osteopathy at any time from 9 a. m. to 12 and 2 to 5
p. m.

Osteopathy is the sane, rational treatment of illness and disorders.

BANK CLEARINGS REFLECT TRADE

Midsummer Dullness.

The mid-summer dullness is being felt in most all lines of business, but general conditions are up to normal for the season. Indications for the coming season continue favorable for good business in all lines. Manufacturers are booking some good orders ahead, and good crop conditions in the Paducah territory insure satisfactory trade for the wholesale houses.

The season of clearance sales is on at all the retail stores and reports are satisfactory. Vacations are taking a great many clerks away.

The real estate market is fairly active. The purchase of the property at Third street and Broadway by the First National bank was the largest transaction in some time, but there are rumors of others to take place shortly. Mr. O. L. Gregory is about ready to close up the details for the sale of about 275 acres of his property in the Afton Heights vicinity to a syndicate, which will sell it off in small plots. The amount paid will be nearly $50,000. W. F. Minnich has placed the property purchased of Thomas Boswell on The Pines road on the market this week.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report.

New York, July 28.—Bradstreet's weekly report follows: Trade, industrial and crop developments are generally favorable. Fair activity for the vacation period is witnessed in trade circles in small preparations for fall trade are making, with more than ordinary optimistic feeling visible, as regards the fall and winter business. In leading industries more than seasonable activity rules, with iron and steel trades leading in volume of demand and output. Interesting side lights on the pessimistic prediction, current some time ago, as to the meat trade is found in advices from Chicago that cattle and hog prices are at the highest point of the year.

Wheat including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week are 1,709,000 bushels against 864,000 bushels this week last year. For the past four weeks of the fiscal ears 6,942,000 bushels against 4,523,000 bushels in 1905. Corn exports 539,000 bushels against 774,000 bushels a year ago; for the fiscal year to date 2,663,000 bushels against 3,734,000 bushels in 1905.

TERRIER

Scratches Ground in Hen Fashion for Breed of Chicks.

Tiffin, Ohio, July 28.—A. J. Whitney is the owner of a small black and-tan terrier dog which for the past three years has invariably adopted three or four small chickens each year, and has cared for them as best she could until they were full grown. Last week one of Mr. Whitney's brood of hens was killed on the railroad track, making orphans of a dozen small chicks. Fanny, the dog, promptly came to the rescue and adopted them, as has been her custom. The chicks were placed in a box, and when one gets out the dog will pick it up very tenderly with its mouth and replace it in the nest. It is a curious sight to see the dog strutting about followed by the chicks for whom she scratches in true hen fashion in search of food.

BREAKS OF THE LAVA.

Conditions of Present Eruption and of That of A. D. 79 Reversed.

At one house, which had been entirely surrounded by the flood, but not destroyed, one saw people, on top of the mass of lava, entering the upper windows with a ladder and bringing forth their household goods, to transport them to a place of safety. One vineyard was surrounded on three sides by this dividing current, and it was possible to walk into it among the lines of trimmed vines, and to perceive the fire still glowing in the towering walls of lava on each side. The people attributed this remarkable phenomenon to the miraculous intervention of their Madonna, "Our Lady of the Snows," with whose sacred image they had confronted the all-devouring monster sweeping implacably down on their apparently doomed homes. Step by step the priests and the faithful, singing the litanies, retreated, as the awful flood swept on, and still the sound of singing and prayer rose above the fearful roar of the mountain above, belching forth from the central crater fiery bombs and enormous swirls of cinder, sand and smoke, which rose to great heights. Yard by yard the lava swept onward; now a palatial villa was surrounded by the torrent, crushed down, and disappeared in smoke; now a weeping peasant would see his little cottage and vineyard, his all go under in an instant. One poor woman was thus watching the fate of her earthly belongings from a little eminence, when a small crater came roaring forth at her very feet. She turned to flee, fell, rolled to the bottom of the little hill, and the next moment the lava flowed forth like the foam from a glass of beer and swept over the spot where she had been standing an instant before.

In the eruption of A. D. 79, it was the shower of pulverized material which came in this direction and destroyed Pompeii, while the lava flowed toward Herculaneum. This is what has made it easy to dig out Pompeii, but impossible to uncover any great portion of the finer city, now lying under the modern town of Rosina, on the confines of Naples itself. In the present eruption the conditions have been reversed—"Vesuvius in Fury."

Creating a Deep Water Harbor.

In 1898 congress passed a bill appropriating $2,900,000 for the construction of a breakwater at San Pedro, Cal., writes N. A. Bowers in Technical World Magazine for July. "San Pedro is thirty miles south of Los Angeles, and has about 2,500 inhabitants. It has long been an important seaport of the Pacific coast; but of late years its steadily growing lumber trade has been seriously hampered by a lack of ample sheltered anchorage. The rapid development of Los Angeles and the adjoining country has created a great demand for lumber; and this lumber, which is obtained chiefly from the Puget Sound region, can be brought by water far cheaper than by rail. San Pedro had only limited wharfage, and absolutely no sheltered anchorage; but like many engineering projects of great magnitude, a breakwater was considered impossible or impracticable until it became a necessity.

"By the time the breakwater is finished, the four square miles of water lying in its shelter will have a depth sufficient to accommodate the largest ocean-going vessels. Dredgers are constantly working on the shallow portions and have already deepened the water considerably, over a part of the sheltered section. Although at the present time only about one-half of the superstructure appears above the water, vessels may safely anchor in its shelter in moderately heavy storms. This is a good indication of what the effect will be when the breakwater is completed.

"In the lee of this great wall, San Pedro is rapidly expanding. Her future is assured. When the Panama canal opens a short cut for all the traffic of the Atlantic, San Pedro will, by the steadfast might of her protector, claim a place among the chief ports of the Pacific."

Hard of Hearing.

When President Hadley, of Yale, was professor of political science there a student once offered him a poor excuse for a bad examination paper.

Prof. Hadley listened to the excuse in silence. Then he said, with a grim smile:

"That excuse is about as poor as the one a criminal lawyer offered for his client in a case that had gone hard with him.

"Gentlemen of the jury," cried this lawyer, eloquently, "remember that my client is hard of hearing, and that, therefore, the voice of conscience appeals to him in vain."

CHECK ON "SPOONING" COUPLES

Fond Lovers at Washington Feel the Weight of Official Action.

The band played "How Would You Would You Like to Spoon With Me?" is a song which is being made difficult in Washington. Colonel C. S. Bromwell, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, in response to complaints from the residents around Iowa Circle because of the antics of fond couples, who frequented this breathing spot, has ordered all the benches removed.

The Fifteenth Cavalry band gave a concert there last night, but "standing room only" was the order. Here was no billing and no cooing while the band played "How Would You Like to Spoon With Me?"

Iowa Circle is not as fashionable as it once was, but there are some extremely nice people living in that neighborhood whose sensibilities were jarred when the balmy evenings came and they began to sit on their porches and front steps. The seats in the circle around the Logan statue were early filled with the youth and some of the beauty of two races, who were generally hilarious and frequently inclined to "spoon" in a most brazen way.

A Big News "Beat."

Undoubtedly the boldest undertaking on the part of a reporter to score a "beat" ever known in the history of American Journalism was when Thomas B. Fielders, of the New York Times, leaped from a steamer in New York harbor at odds of about a hundred to one of being drowned, and brought in the first graphic story of the loss of the ocean liner "Oregon." It is the custom of the New York dailies to send reporters down the bay to meet incoming steamers, when it is known there is "big news" aboard. On the ground that it is better to be safe than sorry, the editors dispatch the reporters by special permit on a government revenue cutter, or else on a specially chartered tug, with a view of catching their game before the ship docks. It was known early one afternoon that the North German Lloyd steamer which had rescued the passengers of the ill-fated "Oregon" was not far out, and every city editor in New York laid plans for sending reporters out to meet the incoming liner.

Fielders was one of these. He managed to get aboard the big steamer far down the bay and went among the survivors of the "Oregon" disaster and obtained some thrilling tales of escape. He took notes enough to write a book about the sinking of the ship, with minute details of heroic rescues and plenty of what newspaper men call "human interest" stories. Then time began to wear heavily on his hands. It was getting late at night, and the ship had not yet passed quarantine. To make matters worse, the captain said that he would allow no one to leave the ship until she had made her way clear at quarantine; Fielders vainly pleaded that he was not a passenger, and, therefore, was not amenable to the inspection of the ship by the health officers. His remonstrances were unavailing. The captain was obdurate.

Ten o'clock came. The city editor of the "Times" paced nervously around the night desk, repeatedly asking: "Where on earth is Fielders?" Out there in the bay Fielders, wrought to a pitch of anger almost sufficient to impel an assault upon the exacting captain, looked vainly at the dimpling stream of light from his tug as she lay out in the darkened waters waiting for him. The captain of the steamer would not permit the tug to come any nearer to his ship. Fielders stood beside the rail, loudly remonstrating with the man commanding the big ship. He stealthily placed one leg over the rail, then the other. Then there was a splashing sound below and a chorus of shouts from the passengers. The reporter was overboard! Out in the rippling light his body was seen to rise, and, as it did, the daredevil began swimming toward his tug. His comrades had thrown out a line at a signal from him, previously given, and he made for that line. Would he ever get it? Could they see him, a mere speck on dimly lighted waters? He gained a hold on the rope, was pulled aboard the tug, and gave orders for her nose to be turned toward the Manhattan shore with all possible speed. The "Times" contained a full and graphic story of the loss of the "Oregon" the next morning.—Success.

John Quinn, the Famous Life Saver, Member of Brooklyn Bridge Squad.

Regular patrons of the bridge cars going over to Brooklyn every evening have had their attention attracted many times to three Italian street cleaners who, as "sure" as sunset, march up Park Row and at the entrance to the big East River span confront a tall heavily built roundsman who does duty there. Approaching the policemen with every evidence of deference and respect, the trio of mud pushers stand at "attention" in their military style, and give a right hand salute from the tips of their Woodbury helmets.

"Thank-a you; we thank-a you, ver' much-a."

"Ah, g'wan," is usually the laconic reply from the business-looking roundsman; "g'wan and forget it."

The three Italian street cleaners then back off smiling in radiance. The performance has come to be such a regular part of the evening's programme at the bridge entrance that a man went up to a police sergeant the other day and asked him what it all meant.

"What does it mean?" he replied with surprise. "Why, don't you know? Sure, that's John Quinn, a roundsman of the Brooklyn bridge squad; the great life-saver of the New York police force. He's the goods when it comes to jumpin' into the river for dippy people who don't know what they're doin' or for despondent men and women who want to quit the game."

The inquirer went over to Quinn and sought to get him to tell how he had saved the three Italians. Quinn didn't want to talk about it at first, but finally consented.

On the night of March 27, 1897, Quinn was standing in South street, near Coenties Slip. Suddenly he heard cries for help coming from the river. Running to the end of the pier he saw three men struggling in the water. They were screaming for help and splashing helplessly about in the cold water. Quinn immediately dropped his hat and nightstick and dived off into the river. Swimming close to one of the men he grabbed him by the coat collar and admonishing him to keep still swam with him back to safety. Then Quinn went after the second man, who was nearly dead. The second Italian, while almost unconscious, gave Quinn the death grip, but the strong Irishman was equal to the occasion, and, fighting the Italian off, grabbed him, as he had done with the first, and hauled him to the pier. The third man was going down for the last time when the roundsman almost breathless, stiff with cold and his heavy uniform almost dragging him below the surface, caught hold of his hair and, holding his face above water, hauled him to where the other two exhausted Italians lay. The third man was unconscious when rescued. Yelling for assistance a rope was offered and Quinn helped lift the three Italians to the top of the pier, when they were taken to the Hudson street hospital. The three Italians, none of whom could swim had been knocked off a scow.

In telling this story there was an element of pathos as well as heroism in Quinn's recital. "It was rainin' pretty hard, and aside from that I was pretty wet," he said sadly. "While I was there a-talkin', Larry Powers, the other 'Rounds', comes along. "What's up?" says I. "The sergeant at the station wants to see you," says he, 'an' I've been huntin' the precinct for you."

"Well," says I, "you might have foun' me down there in the river, I've been havin' troubles of me own. I've just saved three Dagoes, and I've got 'em over to the Hudson street hospital."

"That so," answered Powers, kind o' sad like, and turain' his face away 'God has a peculiar way of fixin'

them things,' says he. And then he looks away again.

"What's up?" says I, beginning to suspect something; 'out with it, Larry, old boy.'

"He didn't answer for a moment, then, sort o' taking a brace, he looks around and says in a kind o' whisper: 'John, I thought I'd leave the Sarge to tell you about it, but I've got to follow his instructions,' he said. Then, after a moment's hesitation: 'John, your wife just died.'

"Afterward I calculates on the time, and I finds that my wife died just as I was fishin' the last of the Dagoes out of the river."

Quinn has more rescues to his credit than any other man on the force, and the fact that he has received thirty-one medals for life-saving—each medal representing a life—hasn't made any difference in his demeanor or manner. He doesn't display his medals, nor Quinn isn't that kind of a man. He just keeps them home in a plain wooden box out of sight and out of mind. Behind each medal is an interesting story of an act of heroism performed in the East river, but Quinn is loath to talk about them.

For many years Quinn was attached to the Old Slip Squad and did duty along the East river front from Wall street to the Battery. The majority of his rescues, however, were made at Pier 5, although when he was attached to the Twentieth Precinct he jumped into the North river at the foot of West Thirty-fifth street to save the life of John Betz. Police Commissioner Partridge then placed his name on the police roll of honor for this act. Long before that time Quinn had his name on the roll of honor at police headquarters. In fact he had only been on the police force six days when he jumped into the river to save a woman who had attempted suicide. For that he was honorably mentioned. Of the medals he has received only seven were presented by the police department.

Quinn was appointed to the force March 10, 1894, and assigned to duty at the Old Slip police station.

He was made a roundsman four years later, when he had made seven teen river rescues. By that time he had become so accustomed to dragging people from the river that when he made a rescue his only record of it would be the inscription of the person's name and address. Then he would forget all about it. Quinn never kept a record of the exact number of lives he has saved, for as each notebook became full of records of this and other items of police duty he would throw it away. The record on the police blotters tells of thirty-one cases. Here is the way some of the official records read:

"Patrick Halpin, laborer, residence 322 West Thirtieth street, attempted to commit suicide by jumping from Pier 7, East river, 6 a. m., April 23, 1896; rescued by Officer John Quinn, who jumped into the river and swam with Halpin to dock, then landing his man safely in Hudson street hospital. Witnesses, Daniel Christensen, 172 Hamilton street, and Nicholas Tully, 304 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn."

"Frank McLaughlin, 35 years old, accidentally fell overboard from Bridgeport boat at foot of Pike street, 2 a. m., May 17, 1896. Rescued by Officer John Quinn, who swam with man all the way to Pier 6, East river, lifted McLaughlin to pier, and then took him to Hudson street hospital."

"Patrick Murray, 31, boatman, residing at Troy, N. Y., attempted to commit suicide by jumping into river from canal boat B. T. Helwane, lying at Pier 6, East river, at 2:50 a. m., June 16, 1896. Rescued by Officer John Quinn; taken to Hudson street hospital, thence to Centre street court, arraigned before Justice Plummer, who sent him to Bellevue to have his sanity inquired into."

"Edward Ronan, tell off Pier 6 into East river 4 a. m., August 23, 1896; rescued by Officer John Quinn; taken to Hudson street hospital."

Thus the list goes on, but not telling the real story behind each rescue.

A Modern Garden of Eden.
The rare and tender charm of Ralph Henry Harbour's love-stories has never been more conspicuously present than in his new novelette, "An Adventure in Arcady," which appears complete in the August issue of Lippincott's Magazine. The reader is at once transported into heavenly scenes of lovely bloom, winding waters, and cool shades—a veritable New England Garden of Eden where Modern Man meets Modern Woman.

While possessing characteristics similar to "Kitty of the Roses," Mr. Harbour's earlier successful book, this new romance is perhaps a bit more robust in its scheme. The heroine is drawn with a touch light—yet firm and vital, and the story throughout is human, and handled with professional deftness.

An Unreasonable Request.
Mrs. C. was ordering the day's lunch over the telephone.

Brains were on her menu and she had tried a number of butchers without success.

"Is that 266?" anxiously.

"Yes."

"Have you any brains?"

"What?"

"Have you any brains today?"

"No, no, no!" came the tasty reply.

"Madame, you have made a mistake this is Dr. Smith's telephone."—August Lippincott's.

Greenland's Glory.

The largest mass of ice in the world is probably the one which fills up nearly the whole of the interior of Greenland, where it has accumulated since before the dawn of history. It is believed now to form a block 600,000 square miles in area and averaging a mile and a half in thickness. According to these statistics the lump of ice is larger in volume than the whole body of water in the Mediterranean, and there is enough of it to cover the whole of United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland with a layer about seven miles thick.—London Tit-Bits.

Pin Money Cut From $80,000 to .00 By Incensed Parent of the Countess.

New York, July 28.—That the $80,000 a year formerly spent for dress by his daughter, Mrs. Cynthia Burke-Roche, now the wife of Count Axel Batonyi, whip of the Austrian parliament, can be used to a much better purpose, has been suddenly decided by Frank Work, aged millionaire broker and horseman. The Batonyis are now in Europe on their honeymoon, although the marriage occurred a year ago. It was kept secret until a day or two before the couple sailed. Mr. Work was highly displeased because he was not informed of the wedding until everybody else knew it, too.

Formerly Mrs. Burke-Roche found her $80,000 a year all too small for the proper garbing of her aristocratic form. She complained bitterly that she could not dress on so placed an allowance. Cut down so suddenly from that meager sum to nothing at all a year, the state of her wardrobe will now, it is expected, be deplorable. New York is wondering how, if she could not dress on $200 a day, how she will secure sufficient clothes on her pocket money.

Seeking Relatives.
Mrs. Mary Witty, of Hopkinsville, arrived this morning with her son and was forced to apply to the police headquarters to seek out relatives and friends. She was directed to the residence of a friend of Police Capt. Frank Harlan.
